

Dear Sir,

I wish to complain in the strongest possible terms about your web site. The public are particularly susceptible to these things, and you are wasting their time, time that could be much more productively spent looking at adorable kittens.

Yours faithfully,
Ben Huh (CEO)